

HELP WANTED

Welcome to the 2011/2012 school year at Apopka Elementary! You are always welcome to come into the classroom to assist with activities and projects. As parents, you have been your child's first and most important teacher. Continuing that parental involvement at school has been closely linked to academic achievement and self-confidence. If you would like to assist with activities in our classroom, please complete this form today and I will contact you.

Another way to support your child's education is to be a School Partner at home. That includes encouraging your child to read every day, making sure your child completes all assigned homework, and ensuring that your child gets enough sleep and has a healthy breakfast.

Thank you for your support!
